TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR PENSION TOWERS ENERGY AUDIT

1. Introduction

This document outlines the requirements for conducting an Energy Audit at Pension Towers, located on Loita Street. Pension Towers is a mixed-use commercial building featuring retail spaces on the ground floors, backup water storage, standby generators, air ventilation systems, firefighting systems, and solar panels. The audit aims to assess energy usage and identify potential areas for energy efficiency improvements, as well as recommending meter separation to ensure accurate billing for high-consuming tenants such as salons and small hotels.

2. Objectives of the Energy Audit

The main objectives of the Energy Audit are to:

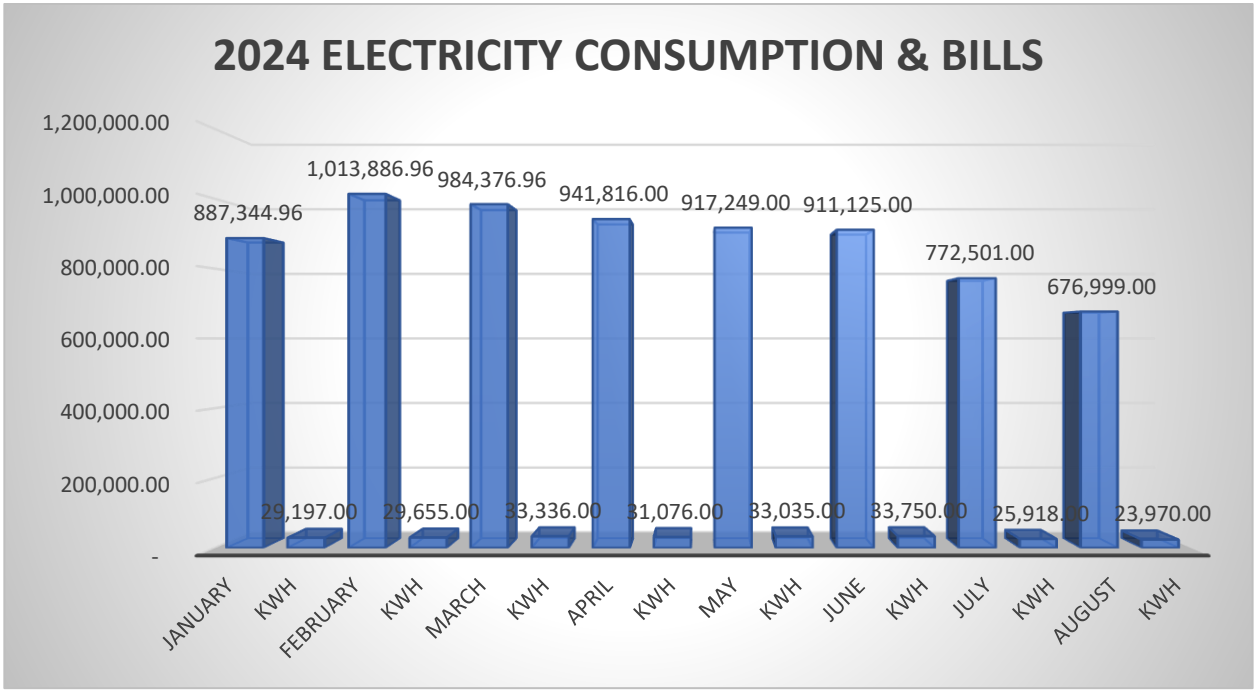
- Evaluate current energy usage patterns and identify inefficiencies.
- Determine potential areas for energy savings and cost reductions.
- Assess compliance with relevant energy regulations, standards, and policies.
- Recommend solutions for optimizing energy usage, reducing greenhouse gas emissions, and improving operational sustainability.
- Support the development of an energy management strategy to improve long-term efficiency.
- Recommend Meter separation for high-consuming tenants to ensure fair billing.

3. Scope of Work

The energy audit will cover the following areas:

3.1 Energy Consumption Analysis

- Review KPLC utility bills from January to August 2024.



- Analyze energy usage patterns by area (e.g., common areas, individual units, HVAC, lighting, equipment).
- Identify key factors affecting energy demand.
- Recommend meter separation for high-consuming tenants.

3.2 HVAC System Assessment

- Evaluate the performance and efficiency of heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) systems.
- Identify any issues with system sizing, maintenance practices, or operational inefficiencies.
- Recommend opportunities for improving HVAC efficiency through upgrades, better control systems, or maintenance improvements.

3.3 Lighting System Assessment

- Assess the efficiency of indoor and outdoor lighting systems.
- Review the types of light fixtures, control systems (sensors, timers), and maintenance schedules.
- Identify opportunities for energy savings, such as upgrading to LED or smart lighting systems.

3.4 Electrical System Assessment

- Evaluate the condition and performance of electrical distribution systems, transformers, wiring, and metering.
- Assess the use and efficiency of any backup power systems, such as generators or UPS systems.
- Identify potential safety risks and areas of energy wastage.

3.5 Equipment and Appliances Assessment

- Review the energy usage and efficiency of major electrical equipment and appliances, including water heaters, pumps, and office equipment.
- Identify inefficient equipment and make recommendations for upgrades or replacements.
- Evaluate the possibility of using energy-saving devices or controls on equipment.

3.6 Renewable Energy Assessment

- Evaluate the feasibility of incorporating renewable energy sources (e.g., solar panels, wind, geothermal).
- Assess the current use, if any, of renewable energy technologies on-site.
- Provide recommendations for potential renewable energy installations and associated cost-benefit analysis.

3.7 Energy Management Practices

- Review the current energy management policies, procedures, and reporting practices.
- Evaluate the building's operational practices, including occupancy schedules, temperature setpoints, and equipment startup/shut-down schedules.
- Identify opportunities to enhance energy management through better practices, training, or automated systems.

4. Methodology

The audit will be conducted through a combination of on-site inspections, document reviews, interviews with property management and staff, and assessments of compliance with EPRA regulations. The audit team will document findings and observations based on established environmental standards and guidelines.

5. Reporting

Upon completion of the audit, the audit team will provide a comprehensive report containing:

- Energy consumption analysis and benchmarking results.
- Identification of energy-saving opportunities and recommendations for each area audited.
- Estimated energy and cost savings for each recommended measure.

- Implementation of cost estimates and payback periods.
- Potential environmental impact reduction (e.g., CO2 emissions).

6. Duration of the Audit

The audit is expected to take approximately 30 days from the start date, with a final report submitted within 30 days after the on-site audit is completed.

7. Responsibilities of the Auditor

- Conduct a thorough, objective audit and provide actionable recommendations.
- Communicate any urgent issues to property management immediately.
- Submit all reports and deliverables within the agreed-upon timeline.

8. Responsibilities of Property Management

- Provide access to all relevant areas and facilities within the property.
- Make available all necessary documentation, including utility bills, equipment specifications, and energy policies.
- Ensure availability of key staff for interviews and information gathering.

9. Compliance Standards

The audit should be aligned with relevant national and international standards, including:

- Energy (Energy Management) Regulations (Kenya).
- International Standards, such as ISO 50001: Energy Management Systems.
- Applicable building energy codes and efficiency standards.
- Industry best practices in energy efficiency.

10. Confidentiality

All information obtained during the audit process, including discussions, findings, and reports, will be treated as confidential and used solely for the purpose of the audit.
