5. SECTION V -TERMS OF REFERENCE

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR PROVISION OF TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEY ON PROPOSED PLANTATION IN LAMU COUNTY.

TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEY

TERMS OF REFERENCE

1.0 Background

A large-scale plantation is proposed for development in Lamu County, Kenya. The project aims to establish a commercial-scale plantation, including associated infrastructure such as processing facilities, staff housing, and a road network. To ensure the project's success and compliance with land management and environmental regulations, a detailed and accurate topographical survey is essential. The survey will provide the fundamental spatial data for all subsequent project activities, including land use planning, civil engineering design (e.g., for drainage and road networks), and environmental impact assessment.

2.0 Objective

The main objective of this assignment is to conduct a comprehensive topographical survey of the proposed plantation site. The survey will accurately determine and map the land's natural and man-made features, including its elevations, contours, and physical characteristics. This data will be used to generate detailed maps and a digital terrain model (DTM) that will serve as the basis for all project planning, design, and construction activities.

3.0 Scope of Work

The Topographical Surveyor will be responsible for the following tasks:

1. Desk Study and Data Review

    a) Review existing maps and data, including any available topographical maps, aerial photographs, or previous survey records for the project area.
    b) Familiarize with the project's overall layout and requirements to determine the necessary survey scale and level of detail.
    c) Liaise with the lead ESIA consultant and other technical specialists (e.g., the hydrological and geospatial surveyors) to understand their specific data needs.

2. Field Investigation and Data Collection

   a) Establish a robust network of geodetic control points across the project site. These points must be tied to the national geodetic network of Kenya to ensure the accuracy and integrity of all subsequent measurements.
   b) Conduct a high-accuracy topographical survey of the entire project area using modern surveying equipment such as Total Stations, GNSS (Global Navigation Satellite Systems) receivers, or drone-based photogrammetry, as appropriate for the terrain and required resolution.
   c) Accurately measure and record all relevant physical features, including:

      - All changes in elevation to create a detailed Digital Terrain Model (DTM).
      - Existing and proposed boundaries of the plantation.
      - Locations of all water bodies (e.g., rivers, streams, seasonal streams, wetlands) and their banks.
      - All existing infrastructure, including roads, tracks, fences, and any buildings.
      - Locations of all natural features such as large trees, rock outcrops, and changes in vegetation.
      - Delineation of any environmentally sensitive zones, such as riparian reserves or steep slopes.
      - Utility lines (power, water) and other key infrastructure.

   d) Record all data in a structured and organized manner, ensuring each point is clearly identified and georeferenced.

3. Data Processing and Mapping

   a) Process all collected field data using industry-standard software (e.g., AutoCAD Civil 3D, ArcGIS).
   b) Generate a detailed Digital Terrain Model (DTM) of the project area.
   c) Produce high-quality topographical maps at an appropriate scale (e.g., 1:1,000 or 1:2,500) for project planning and engineering design.
   d) The maps must include:

      - Contour lines with a suitable interval (e.g., 0.5m or 1m, depending on the terrain).
      - Spot heights for significant locations.
      - All surveyed natural and man-made features.
      - A clear legend, scale bar, and north arrow.
      - Coordinate grid (e.g., UTM WGS 84, Zone 37N).

   e) Create cross-section and longitudinal profiles for specific areas of interest, such as proposed roads, drainage channels, or building sites.

4. Reporting and Deliverables

    a) Prepare a comprehensive Topographical Survey Report. The report should include an executive summary, a detailed description of the methodology used, a presentation of the findings, and a clear discussion of the results.
    b) The report must include a detailed list of all geodetic control points with their coordinates and descriptions.
    c) Provide all raw survey data in a format compatible with standard CAD and GIS software.
    d) Deliver hard copies (A1 size or larger) of all key maps and a soft copy of the final report and data (in PDF and CAD/GIS formats).

4.0 Deliverables

The Topographical Surveyor is expected to provide the following deliverables:

a) A brief inception report outlining the proposed work plan, methodology, and a schedule for the assignment.
